

U.S. AND SALVADOR SIGN NEW TREATY

HEAT WAVE STILL

HOLDS SWAY IN KAN.

Principle of Bryan's Peace Plan Put Into Effect, 26 Nations Sign

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The terms of the convention signed today with Salvador practically are identical with the details of the international peace proposal submitted by Secretary Bryan to the nations of the world. Twenty-six countries, including most of the great powers, already have approved the plan in principle, and it is probable that the signing of other treaties will follow in rapid succession. All will be drafted on the same general lines.

By its projectors the fact that this treaty is made between one of the greatest and one of the smallest of nations is regarded as exemplifying in the highest degree the true spirit of the peaceful settlement of international disputes.

The principle of the convention is that more disputes between nations can be peacefully adjusted if sufficient time is allowed to dissipate passion and for cool and reasonable consideration of the issues involved.

American government toward Mexico. Should the efforts of the United States be balked by open remonstrance against Mr. Lind's visit, various suggestions for procedure came from officials but none of them reflected any definite plan. It was pointed out that if the Huerta government refused to deal with a representative of the president of the United States or turned a deaf ear to his representations, recognition of the belligerency of the constitutionalists should follow as a natural consequence. The thing that hitherto has blocked any movement for recognition of the constitutionalists has been the realization that the American government, by such action, would forfeit its right to claims for damages against the Huerta administration.

With open diplomatic hostility, however, between the Huerta government and the United States, it is recognized that there might be little opportunity to enforce claims and many members of the Senate are confident that the constitutionalists could be depended upon to reimburse the American government eventually, as they believed, by lifting the embargo on arms, the constitutional cause soon would triumph.

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan let it be known tonight that nothing further would be done until Mr. Lind reached Mexico City and official confirmation of the reported attitude of the Huerta government reached here.

(Continued From Page One) government against Lind, there is a hope among other administration officials that mature reflection will such inclinations will be conveyed formally to the Washington authorities.

The president is known to hold the opinion that the Huerta administration would make a vital mistake to refuse at this stage of the situation to receive an envoy from the chief executive of the United States, even though the emissary lacked diplomatic status. Mr. Lind, it was pointed out, purposely was sent without credentials so that he might deal fairly with friends of all factions in Mexico who might inquire as to the views of the Washington administration.

Expect Announcement Soon.

It is expected that an announcement of the purposes of the Washington government in sending Mr. Lind to Mexico will be made on his arrival in the Mexican capital.

It is known that Mr. Lind is instructed to convey the earnest wishes of the United States for a restoration of peace in Mexico and will make his representations largely through the chargé d'affaires of the American embassy. Washington officials would be pleased, nevertheless, if he had the opportunity to talk with President Huerta and outline in person the friendly aims of the United States.

Cody was the most interesting figure in aviation in the British Isles. He was a real soldier of fortune with a very varied career behind him. He was well known to the public in England and very popular. He wore a sombrero, a long mustache, an umbrella, and long hair and was almost an exact replica of "Buffalo Bill."

He came to England a number of years ago from the United States where he had been a cowboy in the west. He had a severe struggle to obtain a start in England. After his previous failure for a while he attracted the attention of the experts in the British war office on account of his display of natural gifts of extraction, particularly in aerial machines. He was told he would be able to build anything in the way of a flying machine or balloon.

Case to town, and took Mrs. Case to the offices of the Colorado Title and Trust company. He wrote a check in her favor for $300 representing her as Mrs. H. A. Boyd and making out the name in that name. The bank, although it was technically an overdraft, honored the check because of Somplaski's credit and because they had no intimation that the draft on the Pueblo bank would not be honored.

Case receives $350.

Then Somplaski took Case to the trust company offices, representing him as G. H. Pace, and, using that name, wrote out a check for him for $300. Case informed it, using the name of Pace, and the bank honored it.

Last Tuesday morning the $300 check, made out to Joe Weber and signed by Joe Stein, came back from the Mercantile National bank of Pueblo dishonored. The Colorado Title and Trust company began investigations, and the police were notified. The police, having only the names of G. H. Pace and Mrs. H. A. Boyd to go by, began checking up on them and on the purchases which Somplaski had made Friday. Pace and Mrs. H. A. Boyd were soon identified as Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Pace and the couple were arrested.

Man and Woman Confess.

Both werelawed, both confessed to their part in the affair, and both are in jail. Pace, in his confession said that he gave the money he obtained to Somplaski, but Mrs. Case said that she kept the proceeds from her check. Yesterday she took the place to the ranch and surrendered $663 of the original $670 which she had hidden there.

The police say that in their investigations they have found where Case has operated under the name of Pace in other places. Somplaski, it is believed, has operated under the aliases of H. G. Kaufman and John Simpson in addition to those of Stein and Weber.

REVOLUTIONARY RHETORIC

IT IS said that Napoleon's proclamations to his armies used to have an inspiring effect on them equal to a victory. They were short, terse, and pointed; they appealed strongly to patriotism and love of glory, and when issued at the beginning of a campaign or just before a battle they stimulated and inspired the soldiers to a remarkable degree. Most of them sound decidedly theatrical to American ears now, but they were written for a people more easily influenced by the theatrical and the sentimental than Americans are.

The professional revolutionists of the Latin-American countries have taken a leaf from Napoleon's book and gone him one better. Every "General" who takes to the bushes at the head of a band of ragamuffins announces his intentions in a flamboyant proclamation hurling defiance at his enemies, declaring the unsullied purity of his own purposes, and predicting the speedy triumph of his cause, which, of course, is to be followed by the immediate establishment of a just and stable government. For instance, here is one just issued by that Generalissimo of the city, Col. Cipriano Francisco Diaz:

"...I am willing, I am ready, I am determined to make the country of my birth, the country of my race, the country of my blood, a free country. Not only to the people of the invisible church over the world, but to all men."

The brave and courageous Godless brat on his broad back is in it for a career. His brutal look and speech tell us where his forces are to find the ruin of the fatherland.

He is a man of iron, and he is to be reckoned with.

"...to honor and duty and I accept the honor."

My Godman is called to domestic affairs to save our country from threatening anarchy, and my Godson's policy is to join hands with civilization and progress on the basis of equity and justice.

Everybody in Venezuela should take arms and contribute to the salvation of the fatherland."

If the people of Venezuela had anything of the American sense of humor they would indulge in a good laugh over this effluent effusion, and then send a policeman around to put Castro in jail on a charge of disturbing the peace. But they are different. They will doubtless receive it as an inspired utterance—or at least a good many of them will—and rally to his support by the thousands. They will butcher and be butchered, plunder non-combatants, devastate the whole land, bring industry to a standstill, and finally, when one side or the other wins, the only difference in the government itself will be the advent of another set of thieves to loot the treasury.

A great people these Venezuelans! In degree of civilization they resemble the Mexicans. Both have advanced to the stage reached by the primitive cave man a few thousand years ago.

HOMES FOR AMBASSADORS

A FEW days ago the cable dispatches reported that Judge James Gerard, newly appointed Ambassador to Germany, was making the rounds of Berlin trying to find a house which he could occupy without doing violence to the dignity of his position and—at the same time without bankrupting himself. Judge Gerard was quoted as saying that if he couldn't find what he wanted he would resign the post.

Walter H. Page, appointed to represent the United States at the British court, is not a rich man, as riches are counted these days, but he is fortunate enough to be head of a big publishing house which has generously agreed to continue his salary throughout his term in order that he may have the means to make a respectable showing. Otherwise Mr. Page would be in a bad way, for his salary is about half enough to pay house rent.

The generosity of Congress toward the diplomatic service is a fearful and wonderful thing. It expects, and the nation expects, the President to secure for the important foreign missions men of the highest type, accomplished diplomats if possible, but at any rate able, cultivated men who are capable of worthily representing our government abroad. And meanwhile Congress imposes salary restrictions which make it impossible for such men to accept the appointments unless they happen to be millionaires.

In consequence our embassies abroad are usually filled by social climbers whose only qualification is their money and who utterly lack the training and capacity to fit them for their responsibilities. Often they are the laughing stock of European capitals, and the sad part of it is that the laugh hurts the United States more than it does the ambassador.

European governments, as a rule, pay their ambassadors to important capitals from $40,000 to $50,000 a year and give them suitable homes, carriages, servants, etc. They do it not so the ambassador may live in luxury and "cut a swath," but so he may uphold the dignity of his nation in the eyes of the world. But the United States pays its representative of equal rank from $10,000 to $17,500 salary and leaves him to hustle for his own house. If he is a millionaire it may not be so bad. Ambassador Reid used to pay $48,000 a year house rent in London out of his salary of $17,500. But not all of them are millionaires, and usually those who are make the poorest diplomats.

There have been repeated efforts to persuade Congress to remedy these conditions, but since there is no "pork" in it nothing is done. It would be different if every Congressman had the same chance to make himself solid with his constituents by voting for the betterment of the diplomatic service that he has by hustling for new postoffice buildings.

COUNT YOUR BLESSINGS

WITH a mean temperature of 66 and therabouts, and a maximum that seldom goes as high as 88 or 90, and then only for an hour or two in midday, Colorado Springs has every reason to be thankful for its climatic blessings. Occasionally somebody complains, but not often, and it is noteworthy that those who do the least complaining are the seasoned hot-weatherites from the South and the Middle West. They know what hot weather is, and they know that the worst we have here is balmy compared with the best their friends back home are having.

Think of 120 degrees in the shade, reported yesterday, one to 4 in Kansas and 108, 100 and 100 from 100 over the Middle West. Say, isn't life like? Such intense discomfort even to the strong and such clinging to the weak and failing. The heat is stifling, binds all with doors and oat and nights of sleepless horror.

Think of this when you cuddle down under your woolen blanket tonight, and drop off into eight or nine hours of undisturbed slumber. Think of it hard and count your blessings, not the least of which is the privilege of living, or visiting, in cool Colorado Springs.

DRY FARMING CROP YIELDS

M. G. W. MARTIN, of the Rock Island, one of the most energetic advocates of the dry farming movement, predicts that the crop yield from non-irrigated land in Colorado this season will amount in value to $2,500,000, of which El Paso County's share will be $800,000. This is based on the expectation that the yield will be one-fourth larger than last year's crop, due to the cultivation of more land.

There are still some people in Colorado Springs who are unconvinced as to the value of dry farming heretabout, but their number is steadily growing smaller. Eight hundred thousand dollars added to the wealth of El Paso County in one season from lands previously barren is not a small item. It faintly suggests the possibilities of agriculture in this region when it has reached its logical development.

DR. GARVIN AND SUFFRAGE

To the Editor of The Gazette:

I was amazed to read in a resume of Dr. Garvin's sermon of last Sunday that he could find no good accomplished by equal suffrage in Colorado. I was glad that Mrs. Kerr brought to his attention a few facts concerning this subject. To further enlighten this reverend gentleman I have taken the liberty of enclosing him a copy of Hon. Edward T. Taylor's speech in congress rehearsing what has been accomplished in this line. If Dr. Garvin were to visit our polling places anywhere in the state, and compare them with polling places where equal suffrage does not exist, the change for good, would be apparent.

In the latter part of his sermon Dr. Garvin quotes with approbation a statement made by Thomas H. Reed that all women ought to read the book of Ruth. I have re-read this book and while from a point of complete subtlety of women to man's wisdom, it may meet the approval of the reverend Gentleman, there are other points that will hardly come up to the standard of latter day morality. Ruth, a young and attractive widow, caught the attention of the rich Boaz while gleaning in his wheat field, and, at night while he was sleeping on the roof of the granary she shyly crept under his blanket. The statutes of our state and the ordinances of our city make a misdemeanor of lewd questionable acts. It is doubtful if a word of censure would allow such a scene to be depicted on a screen for the youth in this upon, and a novelist writing such a situation would be destined from placing his book on the library shelves.

All this means an emancipation of woman since her faroff time. "All wrong," Dr. Garvin evidently turns back. He fails to grasp the idea that women should be made equal before the law and before the bar of public opinion.

While Ruth may have many beautiful characteristics the main idea of the story is that in regarding her charms to attract Boaz she was fulfilling a woman's natural sphere. Here is where I take issue with Dr. Garvin.

ANNOYANCE AT BAND CONCERTS

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Where are the police during band concerts in the parks? Last Wednesday a group of mischievous boys, by shrill and wild noise, playfully around the bandstand, annoyed repeatedly both musicians and auditors. There seemed to be no authorized person, in the vicinity to stop the nuisance, and the youngsters continued their discordant vocal solos or quartets with slight intermissions. It is right that the boys should have their funniness, but people generally prefer band playing to the sort furnished in the noisy scenes of "T-Spy," etc., etc., at these concerts. That's not what they come for, and the band is not furnishing music for a juvenile Marathon. It ought to be stopped.

PONDEROUS PERSONAGERS

BY GEORGE FITCH

Author of "At Good Old Sleuth."

Noah, whose last name appears to have been washed away during the well known flood of his time, was born of poor parents, who didn't have even a cheap araphophone in the house. He showed no particular talent in his youth and reached the age of 80 or

BAKER BREAKS MAP'S WINNING

Cleveland Losing Any Chance to Share in World's Series Cash

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—The series between Philadelphia and Cleveland went to the former 3 games to 1 when Cleveland was defeated here today. In the 3rd Baker was the principal star in the home team's scoring. In two trips to the plate he made two doubles and a single and drew a pass, scored three runs himself and drove in three more. The visitors took a two-run lead in the first inning on singles by Jim Chapman and Johnston and Bender's error. Baker scored a run for the home team in the second after getting a pass, and his double to the third scored Eddie Murphy and Collins, who had singled. Baker led off in the sixth with a two-base hit and followed up with a single and scored on McHugh's out at third. He had a walk.

In the eighth Baker single scored, while he had a walk and Baker scored on Collins' error. Baker scored again and hit a run. Brink's single. The visitors' lead stood on the three in and scored on O'Neill's single. Bender held the visitors' score after the first until the fifth inning, when Chapman singled, both scored on an out and tallied on Jack's single.

Baker was unable to play owing to an injured shoulder which he suffered in a collision with Wednesday's game. O'Neill, of St. Louis, took Baker's place and put up a splendid game. O'Neill was ordered to the clubhouse by Empire Ferguson for displaying a called ball in the third inning. Score: R.H.E. Cleveland 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 - 3 1 Philadelphia 0 1 0 0 0 0 2 - 3 1 Missouri, Kansas and O'Neill, Cardinals, 10 and Schmitz.

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—R. L. O'Neill, Boston, with the most hits in the last half of the season, has been elected to the Hall of Fame. The Boston Society has voted him into the Hall of Fame in the 11th year of its existence. The Boston Society is the oldest organization in the country.

OMAHA, Aug. 7.—C. A. Gunning, Longmont, Colo., shooting from the 19th and 20th, won the eighth annual western handles at the Omaha Gun Club today, with a score of 118. His score was the highest ever made in the west. Gunning and Goss, 19, were the only ones to break 100.

Gunning's score is regarded by the experts as sensational. This was his first interstate shoot although he has entered state tournaments before. Judging from his shooting today he is picked to make a great record in the A.A. American.

Gunning's victory over Frank Scott in the consolation was another surprise. The Country club man's service was very good in the first set, while Goss was wild, and the former won. In the second, after losing the first, Goss gained up in the second, after losing the first game, and broke through his opponent's service. He played even better rounds than against Koenig in Wednesdays match, and won the match by taking two straight sets.

Goss and Gannon had a narrow escape, winning a long shot from both Goss and Gannon by a like score. The second round was won by Goss and Gannon, 19, and Goss was eliminated in the first round and Goss in the second. It's a stroke, following in the series.

DETROIT, Aug. 7.—Bill Goss, 19, of Toledo, Ohio, beat Goss, 19, of the City when Goss was fairly Enter.

TOLEDO, Aug. 7.—OMAHA, Aug. 7.—City when Goss was fairly Enter.

OMAHA, Aug. 7.—Toledo beat Goss, 19, by a 9 to 8 score today after each had taken a long shot from the third set. The set 19 had occurred in the 1st. Now that power could not be overcome.

Score: R.H.E. Omaha 0 0 5 0 1 1 0 0 1 - 8 11 Toledo 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 - 9 14 5 Robinson, Hicks and Johnson, G. Smith, Reynolds and Crist.

DES MOINES, Aug. 7.—DENVER, Aug. 7.—Des Moines won the deciding game of the series from Denver this afternoon with a record rally in the fourth inning, brought to a climax when Jones smashed the ball to the decked corner of the field with the bases full. CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Chicago made the best out of four no wins from Washington, today, 11 to 10. Washington played miserably on the field. The White Sox, reaching four before an easy chance. Four of these resulted in runs. Farnier hit a home run, tripled and a single and was given a base on balls out of five trips to the plate.

Farnier started for Washington and lasted until the third, when he retired in favor of Harper. The latter was wild and was hit rather frequently and errors behind him permitted Chicago to score almost at a P.M. Christensen pitched the last inning and shut out the Sox.

Washington could do nothing with Christensen. After pitching six innings he retired in favor of Benz, who held Washington scoreless until the eighth, when he let up and allowed five hits before making no attempt to stop men on bases in this inning, permitting the local men to run wild when they got on.
